

Knight & Dragon

He wanted to save the princess
She wanted to protect her hoard
But something went wrong...

At early morning sad news spread throughout the kingdom: the princess is gone. She left letter on her table, but no one can read princess sloppy handwriting. Was she in a hurry? But one word could be read.. "Dragon". The brave knight hit the road to save the princess and punish the dragon.

Many knights tried to beat the dragon but all of them lost. Therefore, hero visited the tower to the magician. The wisest magician of the kingdom told the hero about the dragon's weakness and equipped him with the necessary items.

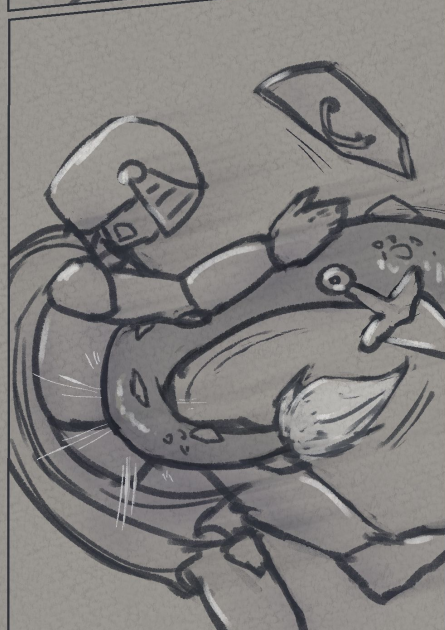

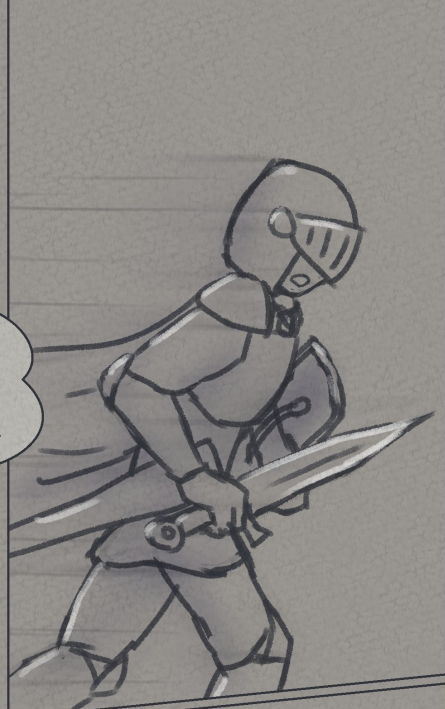

And, the hero is about to enter a dragon's den...

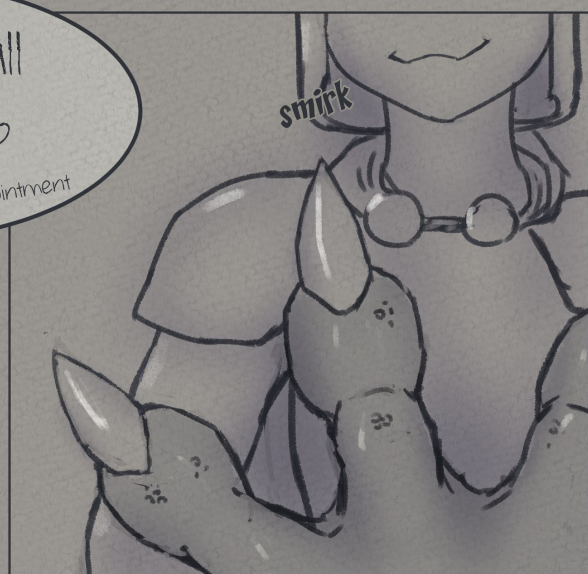

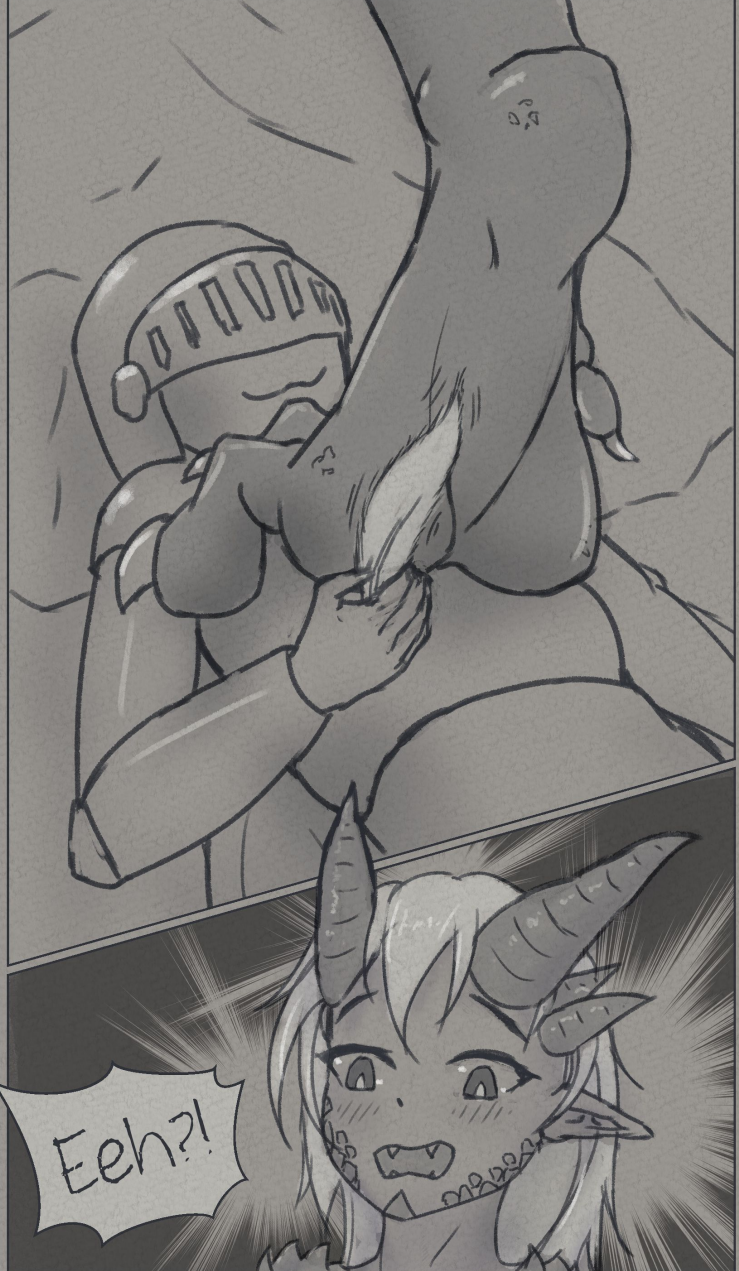

Another treasure hunter? Annoying...

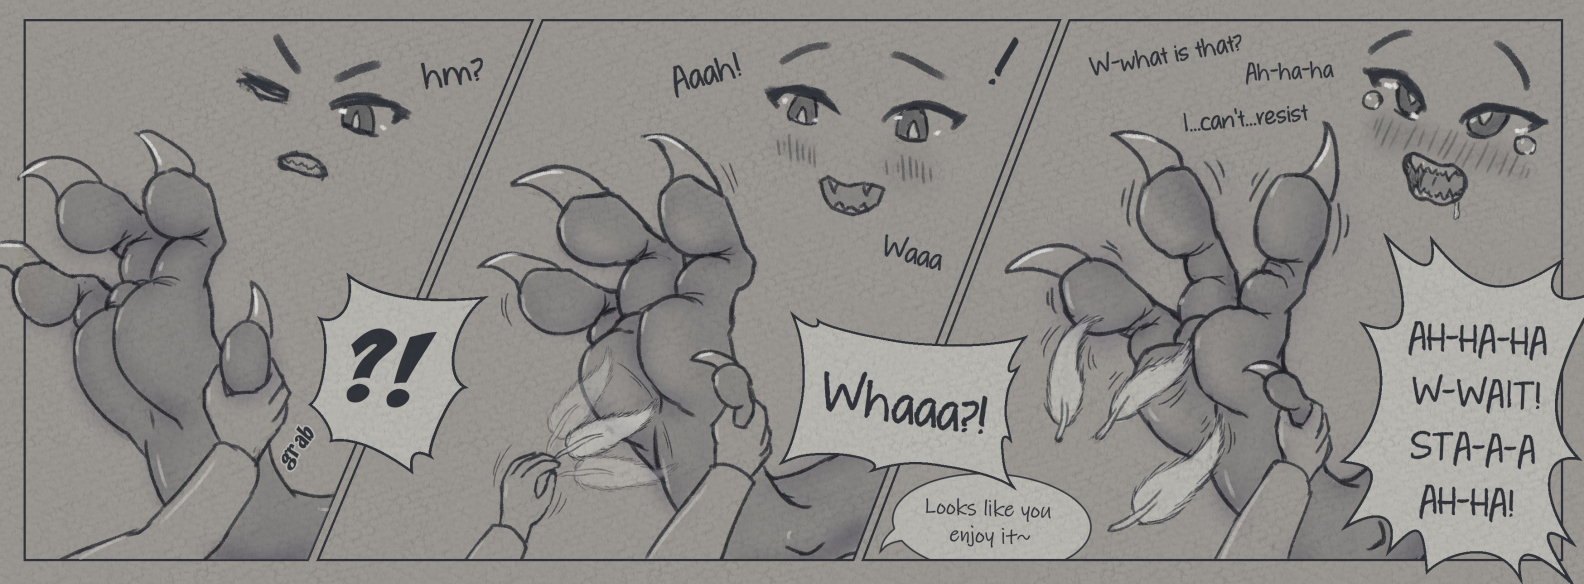

Huh, is this all you can do?
what a disappointment

I... I need to do... something! >_<

A-HA-HA-HA AA AAAAAAAAAA

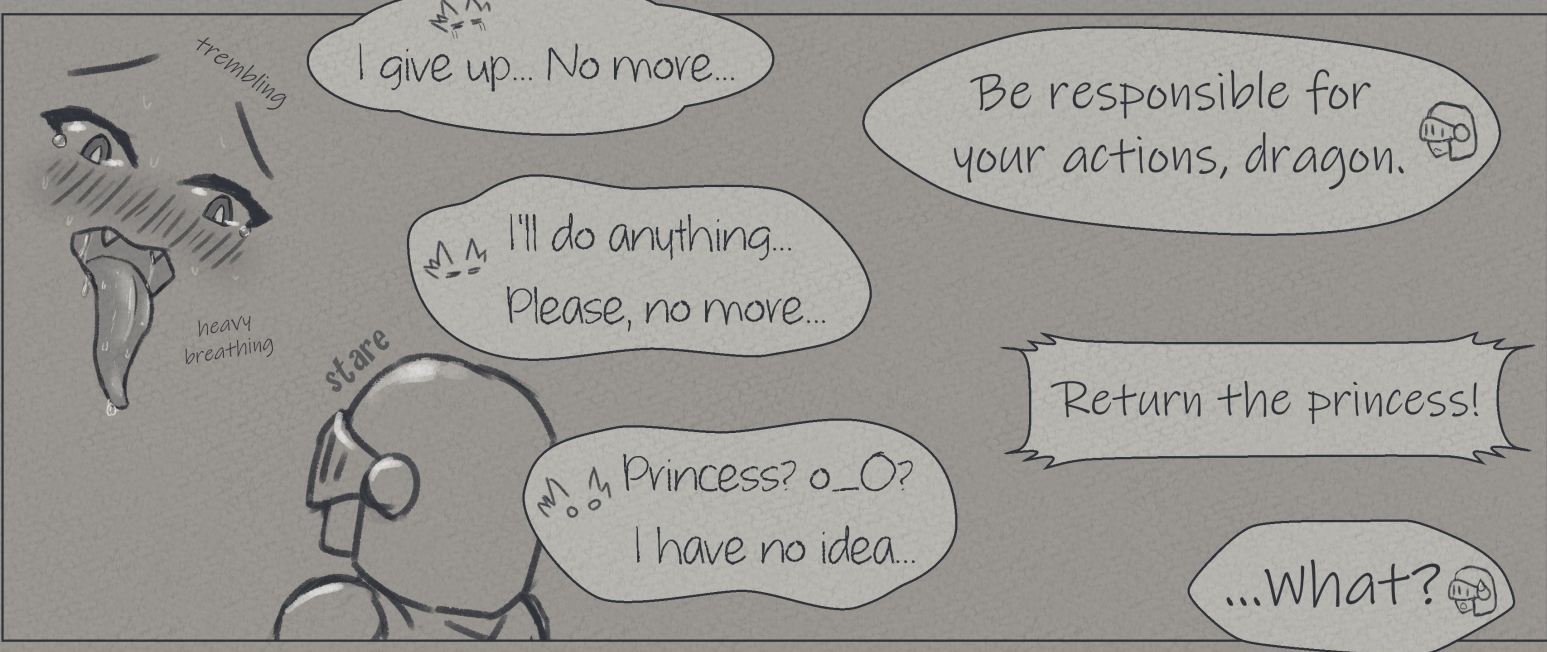

After few hours...

She is still producing juice...
Dragons are amazing...

I've come too many times
That feels too good
I can't even move now

I lost?..

I give up... No more...

Be responsible for your actions, dragon.

I'll do anything...
Please, no more...

Return the princess!

Princess? o_O?
I have no idea...

...What?

trembling

heavy breathing

stare

The princess returned safe in a few days. It turned out that she went to her friend to read some rare book with legends about dragons. The princess letter was about it.

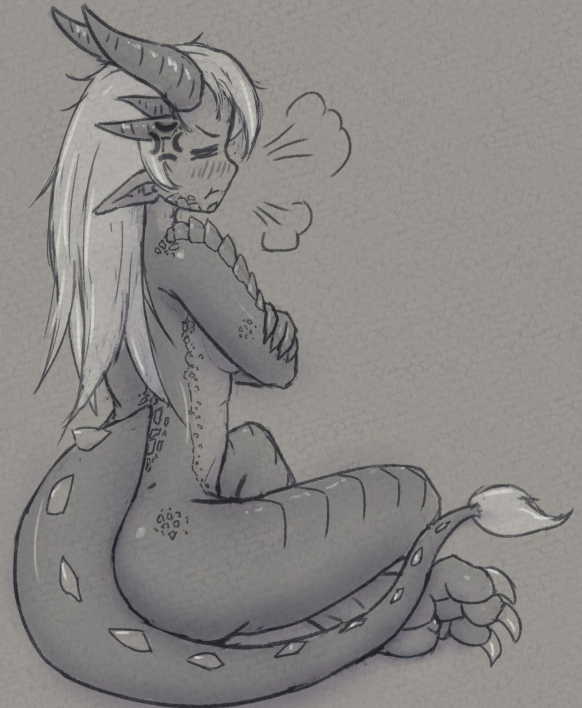

The knight was instructed to apologize to the dragon, and present some jewelry as compensation. The dragon was still resentful of his trick, but accepted the apology and promised to not hold a grudge against the kingdom.

The princess turned out to be a dragon fan. And after some time she was able to visit the den to see the real dragon. In the end, they built a good relationship.

I will never visit a kingdom where everyone knows about my weakness!

fin

I'm sorry

Thank you for reading~

www.patreon.com/klifflod